If the second highest bidder fails to complete an approved sale, the bid guarantee will be forfeited to Oneida County. It could take 90 – 150 days for this process to be completed. Q: Who is responsible for the mortgages, liens, judgements, or taxes on the tax foreclosed properties?

A: Oneida County uses Wis. Statute 75.521 Foreclosure of tax liens by action in rem. The County Treasurer contracts with a Title Company to search property ownership, title, mortgages and Federal, State and Municipal liens. These entities notified of the impending foreclosure. Other liens/judgements against the Landowner not required for searched. If entities do not take measures to protect their respective interest prior to the court date, the Court forecloses out the interest, the entity may have against the Property and title to the property awarded to the County. The County pays the back taxes and special assessments. The new Landowner is not responsible for back taxes, mortgages, liens or judgements. If interested in a property, you may want to contact a title company in advance of submitting a bid with any questions about insuring title to the property. The County uses various Title Companies and can provide you with the name of the Title Company that did the County search for a particular property.

Q: Who is responsible for paying the current year's real estate taxes?

A: If the County is the owner of the property as of January 1st of the taxing year, the property will be exempt in that year and no taxes will be due on the property. If there are taxes due for the year in which the County sells the property, the County pays the real estate tax bill.

Q: Can I have the property inspected by licensed plumbers, carpenters, septic, etc.?

A: Possibly, however inspection done at your cost. The inspectors or contractors must sign the contractor waiver of liability form, have insurance required by the County and the inspector or contractor must restore the property to the condition the property existed prior to the inspection. Noted that most buildings the County forecloses on would not pass inspections required by lending institutions today. Utilities usually disconnected so you could not test water, furnace, etc. You are purchasing the property in 'AS IS CONDITION'.

Q: What does Preference to adjoining owner mean?

A: The properties with this designation usually mean the parcel may be a very small remnant or an irregular parcel that likely would be of best use to an adjoining landowner. In most cases the parcels are landlocked, cannot be built on and have restrictions placed on the parcel. In order to minimize land use issues, the Committee would likely recommend sale only to an adjoining landowner.

Q: What is preferred payment method if awarded the property?

A: If you purchase a property with buildings and you want the keys the same day you make payment, the payment must be cash, a cashier's or a bank check; otherwise the County has to wait until a personal check has cleared before recording the deed and giving you the keys. If the property is vacant, you can pay by cash, a cashier's or a bank check and the deed recorded usually within 1 day. Deed recorded after the check clears if paying by personal check. Checks for the $30 recording fee can be by personal check made out to Register of Deeds.

Q: What if I am waiting on a loan to purchase the property and it would take more than the 60 days to complete the sale?

A: The successful bidder will have 60 days from the date of County Board approval to complete payment. If the highest bidder fails to complete an approved sale within the 60 days, the bid guarantee of $500.00 is forfeited to Oneida County and the County would then work with the second highest bidder or offer again for sale.

Q: What happens if the properties do not sell?

A: The Land Records Committee reviews the unsold properties at the bid-opening meeting. At that meeting, the committee will determine to sell the unsold properties again and may adjust the minimum bid price.

Q: What is a Wisconsin Real Estate Transfer Return Receipt and what information is need.

A: This is a form required by any real estate transfer by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue. The names, address, and social security numbers of all people named on the deed needs to be listed. If you prefer not to provide your social security number to the County, the County will enter 9999999 and the Department will contact you for that information later. Your social security number is not required when submitting your bid. If a property deeded to a Corporation then the FEIN is required.
